

G. W. McKEE

Department of Agronomy, The Pennsylvania State University, 119 Tyson
Building, University Park, Pennsylvania 16802, U.S.A.

My research efforts on Lotus involve studies on the ecology and physiology of L. corniculatus with particular reference to the response of this species to various environmental factors such as light and temperature.